Headteacher: Mr. I. Johnson (Hons) NPQH

To all Parents/Carers,

17.1.20

Despite the wind and rain this week we've managed to pack an awful lot into the last five days (I only wish it was as warm and sunny as the photo on the left!). Here are our friends in Tanzania sporting the football kit that we sent over before Christmas – the Headteacher sent a photo over earlier in the week and we have tweeted it on the website – hopefully lots more to follow! On the subject of Tanzania, as part of our 'Connecting Classrooms' project, we will be having a Connecting Classrooms/Tanzania day on the 6th February. More details will follow but for now we are asking children to wear any colour of the Tanzanian flag (see right) and bring a £1 voluntary contribution.

In the middle photo, here are our intrepid Tuckshop entrepreneurs on their first day of business. Like any fledgling business it's had its ups and downs but they have stuck with it and made some tiny improvements along the way. One week in and they have sold all the fruit, calculated their profit and already completed an order for their next stock delivery on Monday. Well done to them all!

On the right, a traffic survey in Y1! To be fair, they couldn't have picked a busier road to observe and they really enjoyed collating the data – all of which fed into their Geography and Maths in the classroom.

And finally, there will be a letter going out next week about the upcoming statutory changes to Relationships and Health Education from September 2020. Please take the time to read what will be happening and there will be more information to follow throughout the year – including an opportunity for you to share your views.

Have a lovely weekend,

Mr I. Johnson
