To all Parents/Carers,

Another great week has flown by and lots to report!

Top left we have some Y4 children in the Forest School area creating their very own Viking shields out of natural materials. The weather has been a bit rubbish and cold this week but it certainly hasn't dampened the spirits of our classes – who have been out there nearly every day!

In the middle, here are some children in Y5 using resources in Maths to support their understanding. As you know, this is one of our targets for this year and it really seems to be helping the children grasp certain concepts.

And bottom left, here is one of many photos on Twitter showing the children in their World Book Day costumes. Thank you to all parents/carers for supporting this day – it was loads of fun! One of my favourites was a child in Y6 dressed as the Tin Man!

In other news, some of the children came to school on Monday worried about what was happening in the Ukraine. Different teachers in different year groups will support the children in different ways but two articles that we have found particularly useful are below:

- Supporting your child if they see upsetting content online about what is happening in Ukraine | Childnet
- How to talk to children about what's happening in Ukraine | Metro News

Two more things, if you haven't already, please book your parent/carer meeting slot with your child's teacher as these are the week after next.

And finally, this will be launching on the 21st – more details to follow...

Sustrans Big Walk and Wheel is taking place 21 March - 1 April 2022

Have a lovely weekend

Mr I. Johnson
