

Weekly Word

Care Curiosity Determination

15.3.2024

To all Parents/Carers,

Wow – I can't start this week's Weekly Word without saying a huge thank you to the Markeaton Community for all their kind Red Nose Day Food donations. We ended up having to get another trolley just to put it all in!

They will be collected either later today or on Monday by the local church and used in their foodbanks. Thanks again 😊

Middle left, our playground (although you wouldn't know it after last night's rain), became an almighty great big canvas for the children in Y2. They were learning about the ancient art of Kolam – inspired by Molly Haslund. It looked amazing when it was finished.

And continuing with the theme of art and design, children in Y4 were honing their running stitch skills today whilst making their Viking Purses. Teaching staff absolutely love it when there are 30 children in their class with sharp needles trying to sew!! Look at the concentration on those faces though, seems like they aced it.

And finally, our lost property box is almost fit to burst so over the next week or so we will be putting items out for collection. If any non-school uniform items are not collected then we will arrange for them to be picked up by a local charity. It must be very frustrating when your child comes home without a coat or a hat but it is a lot easier if they have names on for us to reunite them with their owners!

The wellies will also be put out for collection too, so keep an eye out on the playground.

Have a lovely weekend

Mr. Johnson
