To all Parents/Carers,

Another half term draws to a close! It's been busy as always and the children have got themselves fully immersed in their learning.

Top left we have children planting a brand new tree in between our logged seating area and sensory garden. The tree was donated by JCB as part of an ongoing community initiative they are leading so thank you to them and thank you to the children for completing a very labour intensive job!!

Middle left we have children in Y4 working hard to create their own Egyptian Mummies as part of their exciting topic. There was a fair amount of precision and creativity involved in these lessons and they really showed their Markeaton MINDS throughout.

For more photos check out the Y4 twitter page. On that note, did you know that each year group has a Twitter Page – they can be found here (scroll down a bit and click in the left hand column for each one).

Bottom left we have children enjoying an RE Lesson in Y1. They have been looking at the Jewish creation story and why Jews celebrate Shabbat.

In other news, in case you missed it, an email went out the other day saying which classes will be closed for the next industrial strike action on Wednesday 1st March. Many thanks for your continued understanding with this matter.

And finally, just a final reminder about the young artist competition. The deadline is 29th March 2023 so send me your child's amazing artwork and I will enter it into the competition:
