18.2.2022

So February half term has arrived and we have somehow got to the halfway point of the school year – how on earth did that happen so quickly!

Some more great learning on the left starting with children in Y3 taking their Viking topic outside and designing their very own weaponry using chalk.

In the middle, some budding entrepreneurs on show after their fantastic cake sale after school. All five of them approached me about a month ago asking if they could do one to raise money for the RSPCA. I said yes and then they basically took it from there! Ensuring that cakes were baked, signs were made and everyone knew it was happening – and can you believe it, they raised £90!!! What an incredible achievement, I am sure the RSPCA will very much appreciate their kind donation.

Bottom left we have one of many photos showing children's work following mental health week last week - including a kindness wall in Y5. I know the children have taken away some really important messages.

In other news, a huge congratulations to our winners of the Geography Bee – Strutt house with 72 points! That means we have had three different winners so far since September! The next competition will be around the theme of sport so watch this space. And now all of our signs are up on the corridors (see below)! They look ace!

Have a lovely half term and see you on the 28th!
