

Weekly Word

Care
Curiosity
Determination

19/05/2023

To all Parents/Carers,

I don't want to curse it but it has definitely felt a bit warmer this week – let's hope more sunshine and nice weather follows us for the rest of this half term!

Top left, in one of many tweets to do with the outdoors, we have children in Y1 practising their weaving skills. They are currently attached to the MUGA so at the end of the day, if you get chance, go and take a look!

Middle left, we have children in Y5 recreating a very well-known scene from a hugely popular children's book by Julia Donaldson – do you know which story it is? What a great way to combine Science (Light and Shadow) and storytelling 😊

Bottom left we have children in Y2 in the Forest School Area. I was fortunate enough to take a group of the Y2s into the Forest School Area to complete a Woodlice Activity on Tuesday – they really impressed me with how much they knew about these creatures! Then they went on to build Woodlice Racetracks, habitats and lots of other creative things.

Whilst on the subject of Y2s, they have also had their SATs this week. It is very different in Y2 in terms of how they are managed and most of the children, believe it or not, don't even know they have done them! Either way, well done to them for working so hard.

And finally, as you can see at the top of the Weekly Word, we have our three new words – Care, Curiosity and Determination. I have seen lots of these qualities throughout the week!

Have a lovely weekend and see you on Monday

Mr I. Johnson
