Care Curiosity Determination

21.12.2023

To all Parents/Carers,

Well here it is, the last Weekly Word of 2023! With the wild winds this morning this year is certainly going out with a bang!

I was in Y6 on Tuesday afternoon and I got to see the children honing their design and technology skills (top left) – I was seriously impressed. They were making different types of CAMs for their space inspired designs. Check out the Y6 Twitter Page to see some finished models 😊

You'll also see on Twitter some great photos of topic displays in the classrooms (see Y4 middle left). Each topic wall starts off as a blank canvas and throughout the term it is built up with facts, figures, children's work, homework and loads of other creative ideas. Then we take a photo, bring it all down and start again. They all look incredible!

Bottom left is one of many other photos on Twitter of Santa Dash, which took place on Tuesday. All the classes got to have a go and it was yet another great event organised by our new PTFA (including the discos last Friday). They have only been doing the role since September and they have already managed to raise lots of money for the school. Well done to them and everyone who helps support, a great achievement and thank you from us all.

And finally, the results are in from the Inter House Times Table Challenge:

- 1st Royce with 221
- 2nd Nightingale with 209
- 3rd Wright with 205
- 4th Strutt with 193

Next half term it will be Geography, so ask your child to practise their capital cities, landmarks and outlines of countries...

Have a restful and enjoyable Christmas Break

Mr I. Johnson
