To all Parents/Carers,

First and foremost, a happy Chinese New Year to all our families who celebrate at this time of year. It's fair to say, there have been a few activities happening in classes to mark the occasion and the children have really enjoyed themselves. Top left we have what's called 'junkbox modelling' happening in Y1. The children have been really creative and made lots of different animals to celebrate this special occasion (mainly rabbits)!

Middle left we have children using manipulatives to aid with their understanding of certain Mathematical concepts. This was one of our whole school targets last year and it's continues to be a mainstay in lessons.

Here we can see pipe cleaners, plastic counters and Numicon being used!

Bottom left we have children in Y4 playing a homophone game. They had to write missing homophones in sentences and create sentences for homophones. Homophones are words that sound the same but are spelt differently depending on their meaning. They really enjoyed it 😊

In other news, in case you missed it, a number of emails and letters have gone out this week regarding the strike action happening next week (Wednesday 1st February 2023).

Please have another look if you are not sure which classes are open or closed and what else will be happening on the day.

Have a lovely weekend and see you on Monday!

Mr Johnson
