Dear Parents/Carers,

I do believe the sun was out the other day, I am pretty sure we all saw it!! Amazing what can happen in a really short space of time when it is warm (ish) and bright! Top left we have some frogspawn in our pond area. There are a couple of huge frogs in there and the children have spied them hiding under the leaves. Top right is our herb garden. There is some lavender in there and a bit of mint (and probably lots else). I am sure that space will be twice the size in no time at all. And bottom left, we have the children planting our new trees (which I mentioned had been delivered last week). They did a great job as it certainly wasn't easy work. The new classroom is coming along really well too but don't worry I won't bore you with another photo!! I know it's a bit congested coming in past the building site in the morning so thank you for your patience whilst this project is being completed.

In other news, we are looking to host a coffee morning for anyone who might be interested in supporting the PTFA in the future. When we have a date and a time we will let you know. Even if you just fancy a free coffee, cake and a chat it's worth coming along!

Have a lovely weekend
Mr Johnson
