To all Parents/Carers,

Wow it's suddenly got incredibly cold!

From a relatively mild Autumn to an incredibly cold Winter almost overnight! Please be careful as you make your way through the playground at drop off and collection. We do put salt down but there are always areas which can remain a bit slippery. It looks like the cold weather is here to stay as well so take care.

Speaking of the outdoors, top left we have children in Y4 perfecting their Ordnance Survey skills. From memory, using an OS map is really quite difficult so hats off to the children for beginning to understand topography etc. Even in the world of Sat Navs and Google Maps, this is a skill which shouldn't be forgotten!

Middle left we have some children in Y6 investigating what made the Romans such great engineers. They have been constructing their own bridges and aqueducts from various creative materials and been doing a top job!

Bottom left we have children in Y1 taking part in their daily Phonics lesson. We have decided to use a scheme called Unlocking Letters and Sounds this year as the Government have asked all schools to revisit their Phonics provision and make a few changes. Anyway, here they are working hard!

Last but not least, a big thank you to all the volunteers who helped the children walk to Derby Theatre to watch Wind in the Willows. It was a great performance and the children thoroughly enjoyed it!

Have a lovely weekend,
Mr I. Johnson
